CGC Crime Prevention

October 2004

ID Credential Cards

October 1st saw the launch of a standard identification card for non-store staff working in the stores. A notice was printed by CGCSA which was to be put up in each store, at the back door, with fliers to be given to each and every non-store employed merchandiser or sales representative.

These notices were given to the stores in July.

The flood of enquiries and applications started in the middle of September. The Crime Office staffed up to meet the number of applications we anticipated about 200 companies.

We were way off target. By the end of September we had processed less than 100.

The deadline passed. On 1 October, the stores started insisting on the cards, only to find that the majority of people did not have them. A leniency period was given to 15 October in order for the laggards to get their cards.

It was like a hurricane at the Crime Office. The phones rang off the hook, the fax machine didn't stop churning out application forms, lists of staff to be reference checked, Queries, enquiries, inquiries, all coming thick and fast. More staff were brought in, and still we couldn't cope.

Then our server imploded. Four days we were without computers, while Microsoft, Veritas, Novell and a sangoma were brought in to get the network working again.

By the end of October we had processed 503 companies, with 24 in progress. At the date of writing (9 November) we have 577 companies as members of the Crime Programme, and still we get new companies calling, needing cards.

There have been delays. Some companies waited days for their reference numbers. Some faxes sent did not get to the Crime Office for processing. But in the end (although it is not yet the end), the staff in the Crime Office did a wonderful job, processing numbers far in excess of what we expected. And not one of them jumped out of the window.

The cards will be valid until the end of October 2005, when we will require them to be renewed. Advance warning will go out, leaving sufficient time for the member companies to print the new cards (which will be a different colour) and distribute them to their staff members. The process therefore will be decentralised to the member companies, and therefore a lot smoother and less hassle to the members.

Participation

The key issue now for these new members is to participate in the services and activities of the Crime Prevention Programme. They should visit our website (www.ecrcrime.org.za), and review past Bulletins, look at the various publications and Best Practices, get involved.

Early in 2005 we will be holding a series of meetings around the country. At these meetings we will give an overview of these activities and initiatives, and discuss new initiatives appropriate to the members in each region.

The Employers Reference Site

The biggest and most immediate benefit to our new members is that they have access to the ERS. The Crime Office is in the process of allocating user names to each company, with an explanation of how to access the database. As can be seen from the graph below, this database now has in excess of 113, 000 names of people who have left the employ of one of our members.

This number does not include the sales and merchandising staff that we have just finished issuing reference numbers for probably over 100, 000 on their own. These names will be added shortly.

Pre-screening employees has been proven around the world to be one of the most effective tools in reducing crime in a commercial operation whether your company is in retail, wholesale, manufacturing, service or even banking.

The ERS provides company driven proof of work history within our industry. This will therefore enable a merchandising company to verify the work history provided by a candidate on their application for work. Or it will identify those candidates who do not provide full work histories, because they have something to hide...

ID Cards for other Service Providers

The Store Groups have determined that all non-store staff will have these cards. Promotions staff have already started getting theirs. We want to have all Delivery Personnel to have these cards by 1 March 2005.

This means that all personnel on a truck delivering goods to a store must have these cards the driver, the co-driver and the staff who unpack the goods. We therefore appeal to all Logistics companies to make contact with the Crime Office and start the process of obtaining cards for your delivery staff

Crime Stats

We always include some analysis of our statistics in this Bulletin. This month we will concentrate on one aspect only Financial Loss. The following graph shows the trend of what we are reporting as Losses to the Crime Office:

Focus Groups

The Crime Prevention programme runs a number of work groups, focusing on various vulnerabilities in the supply chain. These have achieved varying levels of progress during the past year. During November and December we don't hold any meetings, as these groups will in the main, come up with trials or tests, and during this time the industry is concentrating on stocking up and preparing for the Christmas Season.

Meetings will resume in January.

December

December is our peak trading time. It is also a peak time for thieves and robbers. It is therefore incumbent on us to double our vigilance, ensure we are ready for the onslaught.

The CGC has a Store Readiness Checklist of what to do in preparation, to ensure you are ready at store level, for crime incidents during this time. Please e-mail us at crime@cgcsa.co.za for a copy to be sent to you.

Membership

As a result of the ID Credentials project, by the end of October there were some 507 members of the Crime Prevention Programme. These members truly are spread throughout South Africa, and it is incumbent upon us all to now make this Programme work for all of us.
